against it.

The session of the Senate this morning, other than the fight on the rules, developed a direct blow at the Lieutenant Governor, whose powers as presiding officer of the Senate are already greatly curtailed in Illinois. By resolution the authority to appoint the members of conference committees was taken from him, and devolved the duty upon the Senate at large by resolution.

SENATE ADOPTS ARBITRARY RULE.

Decides That Bill Can Be Withdrawn From Committee Only by Two-Thirds Vote.

SEVERE CRITICISM AWAKENED.

Minority May Often Be Able to De feat Will of Majority-New Bills Introduced in the Legislature.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28. — The Senate awoke from its inactivity to-day. Its com-mittee announcements were made and the report of the Committee on Rules was rendered. In the latter was a provision requiring a two-thirds vote to recall a bill from ommitteee, which is considered almost revolutionary in character, since it takes the power of legislation from the majority.

The provision of the rules states specifically that when a bill is referred to a committee it may be recalled only by a sus-pension of rules, which requires a two hirds vote. Senator Parker led the fight against the adoption of this innovation.

He preferred a substitute, the effect of which was that a majority could recall. "I do not see," said Senator Parker on the loor, "how it can be thought either wise or necessary that a bill should be absolutely buried in a committee, notwithstanding the fact that a majority of the Senate may be opposed to such action. I do not charge, nor do I suppose, that any of the Senators now have in mind the purpose of taking any particular bill or class of bills and consigning them to oblivion, but I do say that such a purpose might spring up in the course of business, and I do say that this new rule which has been brought in here is unreasonable, unfair and unnecessary." SUBSTITUTE DEFEATED.

On roll call the Parker substitute was laid on the table by a vote of 23 to 8. The nays were Senators Bailey, Dunlap, Fort, Parker, Putnam, Riley, Pemberton and Walter.

The Senate's action is causing much concern and awakening severe criticism. Lieutenant Governor Northcott this afternoon as aid the rule taking from the presiding of ficer the power to appoint conference committees could be seriously criticised, but of the other matter he declared that the public will be much concerned in it, since it takes away the constitutional right of the majority to govern legislation.

"Under this rule," he contifued, "a majority of the representatives of a sovereign people of the State would be powerless to enforce their will. Probably in no other free government on earth would such a rule be permitted to stand, and certainly the Senate of Illinois cannot afford to rest under such a rule a moment longer than the lirst opportunity for its revision."

After the heated debate on the report of the Committee on Rules and the committee announcements twenty-three new bills were introduced. Of these Senator Berry introduced four, two of which have general significance.

One provides that the Attorney General must institute all suits in which the State

The petition signed by General Wilson and his associates states that Miss Barton secured many proxies to vote at the last session of the Red Cross on the pretext that slight changes in the laws were newled. They claim that the laws were entirgly changed; that she was made president for life; power was given hed to appoint a president pro tem in case of her sickness and complete power over the finances. It is this "one woman" power that examperates them.

duced four, two of which have general significance.

One provides that the Attorney General must institute all suits in which the State of Illinois is interested. It is almed at the custom of retaining special attorneys to conduct litigation for boards and commissions, a method by which, it is alleged, large sums have been expended by the Illinois and Michigan Drainage Canal Commissioners and for which accounting has not been made.

Senator Juni introduced bills Nos. 65 to 80, constituting the first series of about eighty bills, the recommendations of the Practice Commission, which were reported to the Forty-second Assembly and failed to pass. The provisions apply to numerous phases of legal practice.

The last bill, No. 85, introduced by Stubblefield, authorizes the Soldiers' Home at Quincy to admit as ismates the wives of old soldiers and sailors who may now be in the home.

It is this "one woman" power that exasperates them.

In the new by-laws President Roosevelt and his Cabinet are constituted an advisory board for the Red Cross. The petition presents a letter from Mr. Cortelyou to Miss Barton stating that the President or his advisers cannot serve in any such capacity. Mention is made of the complaints of the Executive Board in Mr. Cortelyou's letter.

The matter has been referred by Speaker Henderson to the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. The charter issued to the National Red Cross came from Congress, and therefore Congress has power to pass upon the legality of Miss Barton's act.

The second of the important Berry bills gives to the State Commissioners of Public Charities the authority to control all of the the boards of trustees of these institution and requires the Commissioners to perforn all the duties now imposed upon the trus

Just before final adjournment of the Sen-ate. Senator Parker introduced a resolution Just before final adjournment of the Senate, Senator Parker introduced a resolution calling for an inspection of State institutions on the ground that it is commonly believed that the State institutions, commissions and boards lack in straightforward business methods. The resolution provides that the Committee on Public Accounts shall visit the institutions, call upon them for their books, examine them, and report upon a method which shall guarantee a uniform manner of keeping the accounts and thus make possible effective comparision between the expenditures in all departments.

The House session was a mere formality, though several new bills were introduced. By Joint resolution the House and Senate adjourned until Tuesday of next week. The adjourned until Tuesday of next week. The House committees cannot be announced before next Thursday, as the report of the House Committee on Rules will first be rendered. That committee cannot report for Wednesday, since one day's notice must be given. SOUTHERN ILLINOIS INTERESTS.

Southern Illinois has evinced a decided interest in the two bills offered in the House by Representatives Bundy (Rep.) and Pullen (Dem.), both of Centralia. The Bundy bill affects the assessments of taxable property and the Pullen bill deals with the method of taxing Illinois Central Railroad property. These and the judicial apportionment question, of the matters now formally before the Legislature, have the most significance for the Southern part of the State.

The Bundy bill resurrects an old problem how best to harmonize the interests of the populous northern portion, including Cook County, and those of the counties of lesser population. Last session the matter of changing the ratio of the assessable value to the cash value was thrashed out and the Chicago interests won.

The assessments are now made on a basis of one-fifth of the estimated cash value. This is the maximum upon which taxes can be levied at the rate of 75 cents to $100, the constitutional limit. In populous Cook County, where values are high, one-fifth of the cash value, taxed at 75 cents on the $100, is productive of revenue sufficient to meet the needs of the schools and the other beneficiaries of county revenues. But in the south the one-fifth ratio, it is claimed, does not give a sum large enough to produce the county income necessary to sustain properly the schools and institutions.

Bundy's bill makes the percentage, one-third instead of one-fifth, and this rate meets with much favor in the minds of Representatives from the rural districts. It is not a party matter, and Democrats and Republicane alike are interested. Thomas Tippit, leader of the Southern Democrats and Republicane alike are interested. RAILROAD BILL

RAILROAD BILL.

Pullen's Illinois Central bill is causing much comment. That railroad now is taxed on a basis peculiar to ... In a lump sum, it pays 7 per cent of its ... ose earnings annually into $\overline{\text{Be}}$ estate Treasury. This is done under a charter granted when it was built in consideration of what the road has a 200-foot right of way through the center of the State.

Though paying the State a sum the equal to the taxation of any other railroads, the benefit accrues to all the counties instead of those through which the road runs. Thus in the latter counties—Marion, for instance, in which Pullen lives and in which are two lines of the road—there is this Illinois Central property, out of which the schools and other of the county dependencies profit nothing. The Pullen bill would remedy this and place the road under the system of taxation applying to the other railroads.

Many of the members favor the plan, but a Constitutional objection is suggested which several think insurmountable. The Illinois Central observe is practically a part of the constitution, and the procedure would involve amending the Constitution, a course of which the members are shy.

The exact outlines of the proposed judicial reapportionments are still undefined. Several meetings of Southern Ilinois Republicans have been held to cover the points definitely, but no conclusion has been reached. As previously stated in the Republic, the move means a readjustment of the judicial districts to oust Democrats, though the Sherman schism prevents Republican harmony on the point, and, as may be imagined, the Democrats will be solld against it.

was taken from him, and devolved the duty upon the Senate at large by resolution.

The change was included in the report of the Committee on Rules, in which was a provision taking the privilege from Lieutenant Governor Northcott.

Some of the Senators rallied to the presiding officer's defense, claiming the innovation was a breach of custom, but upon roll call only eight voted to sustain Northcott.

During the House session, the number of House bills was increased from the previous figure, 115, to 121. The bills were of local character with two exceptions, one of Fulton, and provides for a surgical institution for children of less than it years who are suffering from deformities such as are suffering from deformities such as are suffering from deformities such as are likely to render them public charges in after life. The second came from a Chicago member, and affects prize fighting. One bill is already in, which would make lawful sparring contests of six rounds or less. The new bill would require the Governor to order out State troops to prevent prize fights of any kind, if he got "rind of them.

"It shall be his duty," reads the bill, referring to the Governor, "to order out such military force as he may deem necessary to prevent such fight, sparring or boxing exhibitions."

SENATE COMMITTEES.

Following is the list of Senate committees Berlin, Jan. 29.-Herr Ballin, director genral of the Hamburg-American Line, ansounces that the agreement signed at Colgne on Saturday last by the French Transatlantic Company with the shipping comdination did not provide for the former en ering the combination, thereby confirming revious statements on the subject, but it simply was the general traffic agreement of the North Atlantic Steamship Company which has been in existence for eleven rears, and which also includes Dutch and Belgian lines.

In view of the situation at present exist-ing, he added, the French line will not enter the combination and the latter does not desire it to do so.

In an interview with the editor of the Tagebiatt, published to-day. Herr Ballin said the German companies regretted the fact that the British Government had subsidized the Cunard Line, not because they feared the competition of that line, but because it was a bad example for other course. cause it was a bad example for other coun tries, as if one country should sudsidize lines, others might do likewise, until finally all subsidies would have to be abolished by an international agreement similar to the all subsidies would have to be abolished by an international agreement similar to the Brussels Sugar Convention.

He thought the Cunard Line's new, large, subsidized steamers were too large to be run at a profit, owing to their enormous consumption of coal.

"The British Government," Herr Ballin arserted, "is really giving Lie Cunard Line new steamers outright, and it finds the capital for building them and subsidizes the vessels sufficiently to cover the interest and the organization of her new capital."

France's experience, he further remarked, showed the deadening effects of state subsidies. Herr Ballin would exert influence to prevent the German Government from imitating Great Britain's example.

Means of transportation created at state's expense, he said, always are failures when adequate commerce does not exist. The German ilnes were successful because the German merchants had the courage to export German products and buy return freight.

Denmark created a splendid free port at Copenhagen and the Hamburg-American Line was induced by Danish friends to establish a line between the United States guif ports and Copenhagen, but the freight was not there. The only regular commodity offered was oil cake for cattle feed, but it was not in sufficient quantity to maintain a line.

The proposed Blackstone district sewer for Cabanne will have a natural course in stead of the route described in the ordinance, which is in the hands of the City Council's Committee on Public Improvements. This decision was arrived at yesterday by the committee after a meeting with those interested in the project.

The sewer, according to the latest plans, will commence at a point on De Baliviere avenue near Waterman avenue, and run in a southeasterly direction to River des Peres, via Delmar, De Giverville and Belt avanues. According to the old plans the sewer was to have run directly west from Waterman and De Baliviere avenues through Forest Park and into the River des Peres.

The old plan was seriously objected to by Sewer Commissioner Hermann and the Park View Realty Company, the former because it took the sewer from its natural course, and the latter because it gave the city a right-of-way through Waterman avenue, on both sides of which thoroughfare the company has property.

The Park View Realty Company feared it would not be duly compensated by the city for what damage it might suffer from the Hamilton College, at Hamilton, on constead of the route described in the ordi-

The Park View Realty Company feared it would not be duly compensated by the city for what damage it might suffer from the opening of a right-of-way through its property.

The residents of Cabanne wanted the Waterman avenue right-of-way because they were afraid the city would not be able to bear the expense of constructing a sewer through a public right-of-way, but Comptroller Player has assured the Sewer Comptroller Player has assured the Sewer Commissioner that he will include in his next annual appropriation bill an item of $100.009 for sewer construction, and this assurance has served to satisfy all who are interested in the proposed sewer.

Mr. Hermann estimates that the Blackstone district sewer will cost about $225,000. The work will have to pay about $225,000. The work will be completed before the end of this year.

The Council's committee instructed Mr. Hermann to prepare an amendatory ordinance providing for the new route. It probably will be submitted to the Municipal Assembly next week, and the bill now in the hands of the committee in the interim will be reported unfavorably.

Some time ago the college building was destroyed by fire. Representative Adamson, who is much interested in the institution, began correspondence with Mr. Carnegie, asking ald. Several letters passed, the famous millionaire at first being indisposed to changing his plan of giving. Finally Judge Adamson persuaded him that he might make an exception in cases of collete buildings which had been destroyed by fire. The college needs $15,000. Mr. Carnegie will give $7,500 if the Georgians raise a similar fund.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Washington, Jan. 29.-If the Senate Committee on Commerce had voted to-day upon the nomination of Doctor W. D. Crum to be Collector of the Port of Charleston, S. C., an adverse report would have been the result. Twelve of the sixteen members were present.

It was understood that a vote on the nomination was to be taken. The case was freely discussed, as it was shown that several members were opposed to favorable action, and only five sustained the appointment. Three Republicans—Messrs. Elkins of West Virginia, Jones of Nevada and Perkins of California—voted with the Democrats against Doctor Crum. The five Republicans who favored Doctor Crum did so on political grounds, and with a view of maintaining irlendly relations with the Republican organization.

At least two of them privately admit that the appointment is unfortunate, and they would cheerfully join in a movement to have the nomination withdrawn. Further consideration of the case was postponed until next. Thusdet. were present.

would cheerfully join in a movement to have the nomination withdrawn. Further consideration of the case was postponed until next Thursday. In the meantime the President will be advised of the situation, and the hope is freely expressed that he may see his way clear to withdraw the nomination.

Such action is not altogether improbable, for Mr. Roosevelt admitted on several occasions prior to sending Mr. Crum's nomination to the Senate that he was not enthusiastic over the prospect of being forced to make the appointment.

Republican Senators have no intention of discrediting the President, but many of the most conservative freely assert the unwisdom of forcing Doctor Crum upon Charleston simply because he is a negro politicians who has figured conspicuously in several Republican national conventions. It was asserted in the Senate to-day that a thorough understanding of the social and commercial conditions in Charleston render it exceedingly doubtful whether the nomination will be confirmed if the President should refuse to withdraw it.

His subject was "Reciprocity," and the address consisted of an exposition of the needs of Cuba and the duty of the United States toward the Island.

General Wood urged reciprocity because Cuba had been promised such treatment at the hands of this country, and also becausa help given to the island now at the inception of its government, would go a long way toward removing the possibility of all future complications.

General Frederick Funston, commander of the Department of Colorado, was present. General Frunston refused to make an address, but thanked the members of the club for their greeting and expressed pleasure at being again in Kansas.

The toastmaster was William Allen White of Emporta, president of the club. Three hundred leading Republicans held places at the banquet tables.

A reception by the Governor and State officers was given General Wood this afternoon, and to-night General Funston was entertained at dinner at the residence of J. W. Gleed.
